Other Points.

Having gotten in the custom of going to all the fairs in these parts and doing pretty well for the INTERIOR JOURNAL at them all, I left Stanford on Friday morning for Barbourville to be present on the last day of the second meeting of the Knox County Fair Association has held. Fortunately for me an immense crowd attended and it was a first-rate opportunity to increase our already respectably large list at that point. The opportunity was grasped and the consequence is the mail on Tuesday and Friday mornings at Barbourville will weigh a few pounds more than it has heretofore. A goodly number of our old stand-bys renewed their subscriptions, which too helped the cause to some extent. The fair proved a very creditable exhibition of stock and each ring was well filled. The trots and running races were interesting and altogether it was a fair that Knox county bas a right to be proud

It is claimed that work will soon begin at the Watts' Steel plant and that 1,000 men will be given employment. Whether this is true or not time only will tell. One salaried man-the steel maker-draws one-twelfth of that amount.

Pineville looked mighty dull, but there are those who are sanguine that only a little time is needed to make it what it promised to be-a good little city. Some building is going on there, but the hum of industry is not so deafening as it was some years ago. WHEN THE MESSIAH COMES.

A Great Feast That Has Been Foretold

by a Rabbi of Israel. The greatest discordance prevails among Jewish doctors respecting the time of the Messiah's anticipated coming, many of them believing that his appearance is delayed by the iniquities of the people of Israel. Rabbi Machir, who lived at the end of the Fourteenth century, describes numerous commotions, prodigies and signs that are to precede that great event. He says:

When Israel shall be gathered from all nations and brought to the land of London, - - - Kentucky. their forefathers, and the Messiah shall have rebuilt the city, he will celebrate at a gracious reception, at which every one shall be seated at a golden table.

At this feast he will entertain himself and company with a great battle be-tween Behemoth and Leviathan. The feats of Behemoth will be highly gratifying, and Leviathan will come armed with his scales as a breast plate and covered with a coat of mail. The battle will be fierce, but neither will be victorious. Both will fall exhausted, when Messiah, with a great, strong sword, will slay them both. These tremendous beasts, together with the bird Bar Jachne are then to be spitted and laid to the fire. Bread will then be obtained from wheat that will greatly surpass the growth of our days, as much as Bar growth of our days, as much as Bar Jachne exceeds a common bird in size Sauce will be yielded to perfection in the salted Leviathan, and the dessert to consist of all the delicious products of the Garden of Eden, including even some of the fruit of the tree of life.

The guests are to be treated to exquisite wine made from the fruit grown in paradise immediately after the creation and preserved in Adam's wine cellar for this great occasion. Toward the end of the feast the Messiah will fill a cup for the guests, over which they are to say grace, and the Messiah will be requested to perform this office, but God will offer it to Michael, Michael to Gabriel, Gabriel to Abraham, Abraham to Isaac, Isaac to Moses, Moses to Joshua, but God will assign it to David. The cup will contain about 214 gallons. What remains of the provisions after the feast is over will be divided among the guests, who will sell the same in the market of Jerusalem. With part of the skin of Leviathan will be made tabernacles, pavilions or awnings for the just, and the rest will be spread upon the walls of Jerusalem, diffusing a light to the extremities of the world. The banquet will be followed and the festival concluded by dancing and music. The Messiah is afterward to marry, having the daughters of kings for wives, but one of the most beautiful virgins of Israel as principal wife or queen.

Different periods of time are allotted for the duration of his reign, but all agree that he will die like other men. his son reigning in his stead.-St. Louis Republic.

Models at South Kensington.

The model Newcomen engine has been placed in the museum at South Kensington and kept in action, the necessary heat being supplied by a gas burner. The interest shown in this model, owing to its being in motion, suggested the desirability of placing other models in motion. Compressed air afforded the most convenient means of supplying and Orders for Cattle, Sheep and Hogs distributing the requisite power, and a service of iron pipes for this purpose has been laid under the floor of the gallery containing the collection. It was found that the reserve power of the workshop gas engine would be sufficient to pump air for the purpose, and accordingly a vertical air compressor was purchased and placed with the gas engine in a separate engine room adjacent to the work-

These alterations were completed in October last, and the machinery has since been in daily operation. At present ten models are shown in motion-Newcomen's engine of 1720, Watt's sun and planet engine, two beam engines by Watt, with modified parallel motions later beam engine by Miller, grasshopper beam engine, horizontal engine by Hornsby, with automatic expansion all cases the moving machinery is under glass.-London News.

Upon the Mountain Top.

The loftiest point so far as yet known to have been attained by a mountain climber is 23,700 feet, which was accomplished several years ago by a Mr. Graham in the Himalayas. He states that in spite of the great altitude he did not find any difficulty in breathing, nor did he experience nausea, bleeding at the nose or temporary loss of sight or hearing. The motion of his heart was, however, perceptibly affected, as its beating became audible and its rate was decidedly increased.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The people are prosperous, generous and kind, believing in Christianity and education. There is not a neighborhood in the county but has a good church and school-house.

Stanford, the county seat of Lincoln, is a prosperous little city of about 2,500 mhab.tants and is the great doorway from the North and Northeast Gouth and from the North and Northeast Gouth and from the Northwest to Southeastern Kentucky backed up by the whole Blue-Grass region of the State with railroads running through it to all points of the compass, makes it naturally one of the best located towns in the South for mannfactures and other enterprises of magnitude.

Water Works are now being agitated and right above the autiful little tree which bears rough leaves and very sweet scented flowers that open in the evening and fall off at the break of day. This has caused the tree to be looked upon as the sign of mourning, and to be given the name of the "sorrowful tree." It seems sad that the pretty sweet flowers should bloom only for a night and should fall off before the day comes to show their beauty.
